Federal Judge's Decision On Steel Awaited

13 Republicans Asking Action Against HST

Impeachment Move Pressed; Senators Seek Wilson Views

WASHINGTON, April 29 — Federal Judge David A. Pine may hand down his ruling late Tuesday in the historic case challenging President Truman's constitutional power to seize the steel industry.

Court attaches are looking for the decision, but said it may not come until Wednesday. Judge Pine has devoted full time to deliberating the issues since he took the district court controversy under advisement last Friday.

Steel firms brought the court case seeking an injunction for return of their property. Truman placed the mills under government control April 8 when CIO Steelworkers threatened a nationwide strike.

The issues before Judge Pine were whether the steel companies were right in their contention that Truman lacked legal authority to seize their plants, or whether the President was right in claiming both the power and duty for his action.

GOVERNMENT officials awaited Pine's decision before ordering a wage increase for steelworkers into effect over the industry's objections.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, nominally in charge of the seized industry, notified steel firms they may apply for an average $3-a-ton price increase if they wish.

That is the limit the government says steel prices can be raised under stabilization rules. The industry has said $3 is inadequate.

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, met to consider a batch of Republican-sponsored proposals for Truman's impeachment or censure for the seizure action.

The 13 Republican members of the committee were represented as solid in their demand that the committee take immediate action on the proposals.

Chairman Celler (D-NY) would make no predictions on the outcome. He said the announced decision of the Republicans to stick together in their demand "shows that they are playing politics with something that should not be a partisan matter."

At the same time, the Senate Banking Committee called in Charles E. Wilson to tell under oath "the inside story" of why he quit as defense mobilizer in a row over administration handling of the steel dispute.

THE COMMITTEE is conducting its own closed-door investigation of the steel case, with a view toward possibly drastic revisions of the Defense Production Act, which forms the basis for price, wage, rent and credit controls and the rationing of materials to industry.

Wilson contends the White House bypassed him "nine ways from Sunday" in handling the dispute, and embarrassed him by a sudden switch in policy.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), the committee chairman, announced Wilson "will be asked about the details" of that contention.

Countians File Pollution Suits Seeking $30,000

Three damage suits seeking a total of $30,000 have been filed in Franklin County common pleas court by residents of Pickaway County.

The suits claim damages to their properties due to the pollution of the Scioto River.

Suits were filed by Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Lamb of Commercial Point; Vivian Dountz of Ashville; and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Dountz of Ashville.

In filing their claims, the local land-owners cited pollution from Columbus disposal plant has covered the waters of the Scioto River with a black, oily film which gives off noxious odors, causes paint to blacken and blister, gives residents headaches and colds and provides a breeding place for mosquitoes.

Lamb has filed two other similar suits previously, while the other litigants have filed once before. In other suits, according to Vivian Dountz, the matter was settled out of court.

Complete Recess Stalls Peace Talks In Korean War Dispute

MUNSAN, April 29 — Korean truce talks were in complete recess Tuesday for the first time in five months. The United Nations Command waited for Communist reaction to a secret Allied proposal for an armistice.

It is up to the Communists to set the date of the next meeting. Presumably the Reds will make no move until a decision has been reached in Peiping and Pyongyang, and possibly in Moscow, on what to do about the plan the Allies delivered Monday.

The proposal was described officially only as "an overall solution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice."

That means it wrapped up in one package the dispute over how to exchange prisoners of war, the Red demand for the right to rebuild their war-wrecked military airfields, and Communist nomination of Russia as a truce supervisor.

THERE WAS widespread belief that the proposal centered on prisoner exchange.

The Chicago Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, said Tuesday the Allies offered to approve rebuilding of airfields in North Korea during a truce if the Communists will be satisfied with the return of three out of five prisoners of war.

There was no official comment from UN truce negotiators, but some observers pointed out that the reported concession on airfield building would be no concession since the Reds could go ahead and build during an armistice anyhow. And the only way to halt them would be to renew all-out war.

While it was quiet around truce conference tents, it also was nearly quiet along the battlefield. Bad weather grounded United Nations warplanes for the second straight day Tuesday.

There was little action along the 155-mile battleline. Two Red probes on the Central Front were thrown back Tuesday.

OPS Boss Fears Living Cost To Zoom If Controls Killed

WASHINGTON, April 29 — Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall testified Tuesday that if Congress let the economic controls law die June 30 the cost-of-living will zoom to record levels.

Even with controls, Arnall said, "we shall be doing very well if we can avoid a new peak in consumer prices during the next six or nine months."

Without controls, he added, there would be another wave of scarce buying and speculative inflation such as followed the Korean outbreak. He predicted a rise in prices and said the cost of living would boost wages because it is "the most significant factor affecting the wage level."

In a statement for the House Banking Committee, Arnall urged that Congress extend and strengthen the Defense Production Act, which expires June 30. The committee is considering extension of this law, the base for price stabilization and other controls measures.

"I believe that the overwhelming majority of the American people want to see price control authority continued," the Office of Price Stabilization chief said. "This is no time to start demobilization of our stabilization program—whether the demobilization of our external protection or the demobilization of our stabilization program. The people want to see this program through to final success. They do not want demobilization or decontrol now."

He said there are inflationary pressures ahead with defense spending due to jump by many millions of dollars this year. This, he said, will mean bigger incomes with bigger demands for goods; in turn that means pressure on prices upward.

Arnall said a false impression has been created that most consumer goods prices have dropped far below their previous peaks.

"The unmistakable fact," he said, "is that most prices, both at wholesale and retail, are either at ceiling or very close to it."

3 Local Men Are Sentenced To County Jail

Three local men indicted by Pickaway County's April grand jury were sentenced Monday in common pleas court.

Harry Mettler, 59, of Circleville Route 4, was sentenced to one year in the county jail when he entered a plea of guilty to pointing and discharging a firearm.

Mettler originally was indicted on an accusation of assaulting with intent to kill, following an action in which his wife was wounded with a .32 calibre revolver.

However, in Monday's arraignment Mettler was permitted to plea on the lesser accusation and was sentenced.

Fred Brungs, 39, of 731 South Scioto street, was sentenced to 30 days in jail when he entered a plea of guilty to petty larceny.

BRUNGS was indicted for stealing a ladies' slip valued at $1.29 from the G. C. Murphy Co. store.

And Merrill Saylor, 30, of West Main street, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for abusing City Officers Mack Wise and Charles Smith.

Saylor already has served about three weeks in Columbus workhouse for intoxication and disorderly conduct, original cause of his arrest.

The three men were arraigned and sentenced before the court of Judge William D. Radcliff.

Ridgway Gets Approving Nod On Capitol Hill

Some Criticism Is Heard Against Clark Appointment

WASHINGTON, April 29 — Gen. Matthew Ridgway's appointment to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drew mostly applause on Capitol Hill, but Gen. Mark Clark, who gets Ridgway's old command, faced some criticism.

In the Pentagon, the top-level reassignments — Ridgway from Far East command to head of Allied forces in Europe, and Clark from chief of Army field forces to Far East command — were viewed by some officials as:

1. Results of a decision by President Truman to side with Gen. Omar Bradley instead of Eisenhower in choosing the new commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

2. Rewards to both Ridgway and Clark for past jobs well done.

The criticism of Clark came from Sen. Long (D-La.), a member of the Armed Services Committee. He said he wants to review previous congressional investigations of Clark's World War II record and may ask for a new inquiry.

CLARK'S CROSSING of the Rapido River during the Italian campaign has been under previous congressional fire. Bitter criticism of the maneuver was voiced by members of the Texas National Guards, which suffered heavy casualties.

"I was in that area with the Navy at the time of the Rapido crossing," Long said, "and I know that many of the officers with whom I associated did not think too highly of Clark's ability."

"What we need in Korea now is a field commander, not a diplomat, and I have some reservations about the Clark appointment."

However, Sen. McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, said he does not look for any serious Senate attempt to block either Ridgway's or Clark's new assignments. The Army believes no Congress action is needed for Clark's shift.

Gen. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, reportedly favored Ridgway as NATO chief. Eisenhower, who steps down about June 1 amid a boom for his nomination as Republican candidate for president, is known to have wanted his chief of staff, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, as his successor.

Gruenther will stay on as Ridgway's chief of staff.

The idea that Truman was rewarding Ridgway and Clark was explained in military circles thus:

Ridgway's handling of the Korean war helped quiet the storm kicked up by the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far East chief, which threatened to drive the administration into serious political trouble.

Clark's adroit withdrawal as Vatican ambassador — a nominee dropped to quiet the ruckus over proposed creation of that post.

Quick approval of Truman's choice was expected in other NATO nations. Except for the Communists, praise for Ridgway was widespread in Europe. Reds in France called Ridgway "the man of germ warfare" and said his appointment was "a brutal deft to European public opinion."

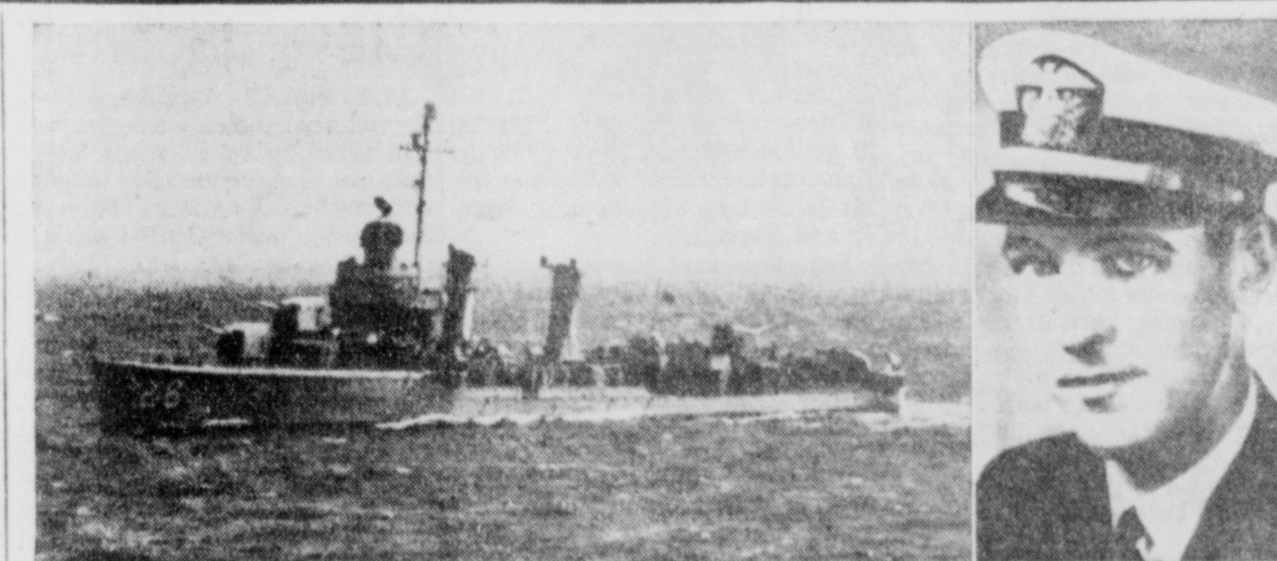

EXCITEMENT among Republicans, particularly over how Taft and Eisenhower are faring in their front-running race for delegate strength, was in direct contrast to quiet doings on the Democratic side.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee has a slate of pledged candidates in one district opposing the Democratic organization candidates. The party is electing 72 delegates with 36 convention votes.

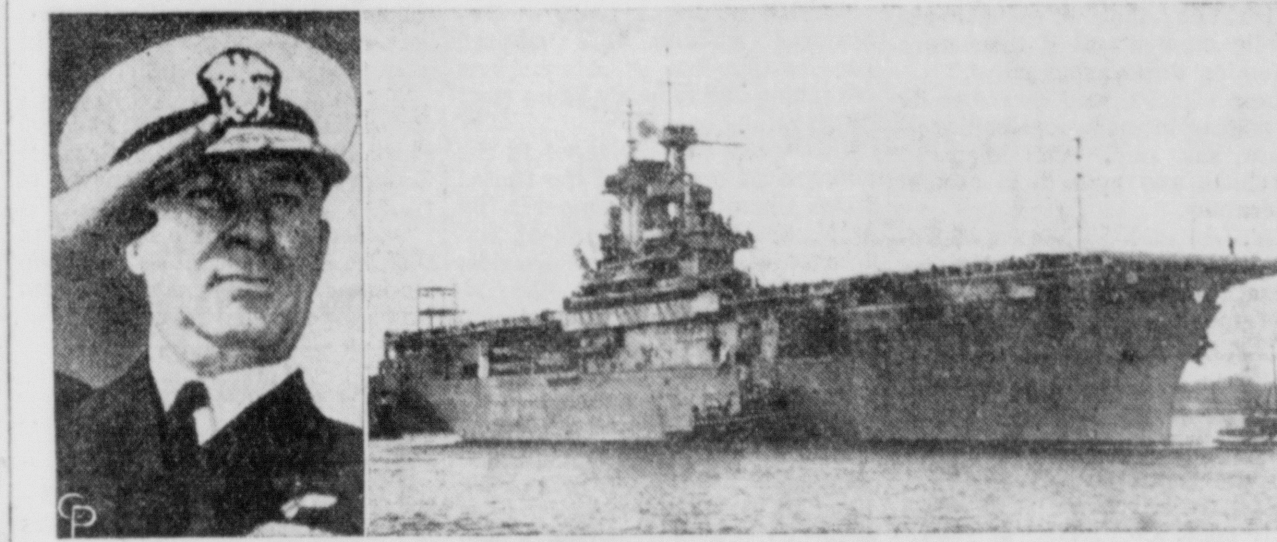

Ten of Massachusetts' 38 GOP delegates have been chosen — two each for Taft and Eisenhower and six uncommitted.

If Eisenhower's forces are right in predicting "a clear cut victory" for him, the general could pull within halting distance of a tie with Taft in delegate strength.

176 U. S. NAVY men are missing following collision between the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Wasp and the 1,630-ton destroyer-minesweeper Hobson in mid-Atlantic. The Wasp suffered a 75-foot waterline gash near the bow when the Hobson "got in the way" during a simulated night strike. Both ships were built in 1942. The Hobson had a brave World War II record, having participated in the landings at Casablanca and Normandy. All those missing were crewmen of the Hobson, reported to have been carrying 14 officers and 221 men. Navy announced it has given up survivor search.

Ike Could Pull Close To Taft

Heavy Massachusetts Vote Expected In Primary Poll

BOSTON, April 29 — Massachusetts voters, propelled by a brisk campaign, ran between chill raindrops Tuesday to write in their preference for President and elect delegates to help nominate candidates for the job.

The weather forecast — temperatures in the 40s with occasional drizzles — was not expected to keep people away from the polls. About three times as many as the 1948 figure of 124,000 were looked for. The reasons:

1. It was another duel for Republican presidential delegates and popular support between Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

2. Pre-election campaigning was hot right down to the wire. Some others, Sen. Harry Cain of Washington who said Wiley had attacked many of the actions he seemed to be defending in general.

Florida newspaper editors, in an Associated Press survey, saw this division of their state's May 6 Democratic presidential popularity vote: 55.2 per cent to Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, 41.7 per cent to Kefauver, the rest scattered.

In a speech in St. Petersburg, Fla., Russell said that, if President, he would "restore confidence in government" if he had to fire a department head every morning to do it.

At a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Frederick, Md., Kefauver said not to take "croakings" of Republicans seriously, since, he said, "the country always calls on Democrats to lead the people out of the woods."

Indiana GOP State Chairman Cale J. Holder, a Taft supporter, announced in Indianapolis that Indiana Republicans will choose their delegates June 7 instead of July 3.

Eisenhower backers said the change was a maneuver by Taft forces who fear "time is running out."

Wiley was criticized by, among

REPUBLICAN leaders apparently were at odds over foreign policy. Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, in line for the foreign relations chairmanship should the GOP win Senate control, urged his colleagues to support the administration's foreign policy in Europe.

He attacked some Far East policies, generally supported by California Gov. Earl Warren, a candidate for Republican nomination as President.

Wiley was criticized by, among

Meanwhile, the 27,000-ton Aircraft Carrier Wasp, damaged in the Saturday night collision that sent the Hobson to the bottom, steamed slowly homeward. She carried the minesweeper's 61 survivors, some of them injured seriously.

The original list of 176 missing in the tragedy was reduced by two when sailors whose names appeared on it turned up safe. They had missed their ship's last voyage — one man being home on leave, the other in a naval hospital.

Four Persons Injured Over Allied Corridor

Stiff Protest Sent Reds, But No Reason For Gunfire Known

BERLIN, April 29 — Two Russian jet fighters attacked an Air France commercial airliner with cannon and machinegun fire in the Allied air corridor over the Soviet zone Tuesday. Two German passengers were wounded and two crew members nicked by bullets.

The airliner, enroute to Berlin with 11 passengers and six crewmen aboard, ducked behind cloud cover after the fighters made four passes. It reached Berlin's Tempelhof Airdrome safely half an hour after the attack.

The fuselage was riddled, but fortunately none of the shots hit a vital part of the plane. None of the passengers or crewmen was an American.

The Allied High Commission in Bonn sent a stern protest to the Soviet Control Commission immediately.

Commercial flights between Berlin and Western Germany were cancelled temporarily by Allied officials, but the embargo was lifted gradually a few hours later.

AP FRANCE'S four-engine Douglas plane arrived at Tempelhof from Frankfurt with five cannon holes the size of a fist in the fuselage and wings. Inspecting crews said they counted 20 to 25 holes in the plane altogether.

There was no immediate accounting for the attack. Since the 1948-49 Berlin Blockade, traffic through the air corridors linking Berlin with Western Germany has been relatively free from alarms.

The Air France office said the two wounded on the airliner were Mrs. Irmgard Nebel of Frankfurt, who was hit in the abdomen, and Walter Kurth of Bad Homburg, wounded in the arm and thigh. Mrs. Nebel was taken to a hospital where pieces of 20-millimeter ammunition were removed.

The French pilot said he was flying precisely in the center of the air corridor over the Russian zone, when the two jets made four passes at him and unloaded bursts of cannon and machinegun fire.

The co-pilot and steward were nicked by bullets.

"The attack was a complete surprise," said the pilot, "but there was no panic among the passengers."

Air France said the attack occurred about 90 miles southwest of Berlin, near the village of Koenigs, near Eisleben in the Russian zone. The Russians maintain a jet fighter base in that area and hold daily training flights along the Elbe Valley.

The Russian air safety center schedule posted Tuesday listed training flights from the jet base, at Koethen, from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

SOVIET PLANES have frequently sallied into the 20-mile wide air corridors reserved for Berlin-West Germany flights but have not been regarded lately as a nuisance.

Shortly before the 1948-49 blockade of Berlin, Russian fighters were more daring and a series of "buzzing" incidents was climaxed by a Yak fighter ramming into a British liner, killing 11 occupants.

U. S. airmen said Soviet jet patrols in the Russian zone are well-briefed on Allied rights in the three 20-mile air corridors between Berlin and Western Germany.

They said the approach of a Mig fighter to inspect a foreign aircraft is a frequent occurrence, but a "pass" by two fighters at the same time was "criminally foolish" even if there was no gunfire.

Commies Ban Trek To Mecca

SRINAGAR, Kashmir.—Communist authorities in West China's predominantly Moslem province of Sinkiang have banned pilgrimages of the faithful to Mecca. Reports reaching Chinese Turkistan circles here said that no Sinkiang Moslem has left on the sacred Haj pilgrimage since the Communist occupation of Sinkiang in September, 1949.

Over 200,000 Communist troops are now stationed in Sinkiang, the reports added. Officials have imported "purely Chinese people" trusted by Peiping for settlement throughout Sinkiang.

Women Voter League Irked By Opponents

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Pamphleteers shouting "Un-American" at the League of Women Voters are hurting the organization, the group's president believes.

Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., said an increasing number of organizations, all generally unknown by the public, have been trying to hang a "pink label" on the league.

She brought the point up in her address to some 950 delegates Monday, convening here in their 20th biennial convention.

"I cannot complete my report to you," said Mrs. Lee, "without mentioning the attacks on the league from certain quarters. Of course, some say we're Republican. Others say we're Democratic. That balances out."

"But others go farther, saying we're in the 'parade to Socialism,' that we're 'mouthpieces for the administration,' that we're 'internationally minded'—as if that were something to be ashamed of." These attacks, said Mrs. Lee, do not appear in newspapers. Small groups, she said, print them in pamphlets and mail them around the country.

Mrs. Lee said the League of Women voters is a non-partisan organization, solely interested in good government.

Kiwanis Told Voter Apathy Boon To Reds

State Senator Leo Blackburn was the guest speaker during Kiwanis Club meeting Monday evening in Mecca restaurant.

Sen. Blackburn, co-author of a bill setting up an un-American activities commission in Ohio, spoke on Communism.

During his speech, he quoted Socrates, who, even at that time, visioned in the future self government as the predominate form of government for the world. In his writings, Blackburn said, Socrates stated the three prime destroyers of self government were bureaucracy, corruption and apathy.

Sen. Blackburn said Communism thrives primarily on the apathy of the citizens and urged that citizens must appreciate and utilize the right to vote and influence others to do the same.

A STRAW VOTE for presidential candidates was held and each member was asked to vote for one candidate in each party.

Results of the balloting in the Republican party were: Taft, 32; Eisenhower, 4; Stassen, 3; Warren, 2; and MacArthur, 2. Votes in the Democratic party were: Kefauver, 25; Russell, 9; Stevenson, 5; Byrd, 5; and Kerr, 1.

For the next meeting, "Girl Scout Night" will be observed and members are asked to bring a Girl Scout, Brownie or a girl interested in becoming a Scout.

Lush Seller's Market Gone, Business Told

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Business leaders were advised Tuesday that lush seller's markets are fading and industry again must "start selling or else."

This word was delivered to the 40th annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce by Al N. Seares, vice president and director of General Sales Service, Remington Rand, Inc.

"American business must create productive jobs or else the political powers will produce boondoggles," Seares told the 3,000 businessmen-delegates.

Outlets for greatly expanded plant capacity, he said, can be found in meeting the demand for higher living standards from a population which has gained 24 million additional "sales prospects" since 1940.

Already some industries are faced with "bulging" warehouses and very few customers," Seares said. "We are now finding out that scarce rayon, scarce nylon, scarce television sets, scarce automobiles are really not scarce."

"It is necessary that we hire salesmen and train salesmen and retain experienced salesmen who have grown soft and lax in sellers' markets. We must spend more than we have been spending on advertising and sales promotion."

Hamilton County Hay Threatened

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Unless immediate action is taken, hay yield in Hamilton County may be reduced up to 50 percent by sucking insects.

County Agent Carl R. Bibbes said a loss from $50,000 to $75,000 on the first cutting alfalfa and clover hay is faced unless the pests are killed. He added that serious stunting of plants because of alfalfa aphids has been reported in the western section of the county. A second insect the clover lead weevil—is devouring the plant leaves.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday in Eckhart Funeral Home, Akron. Burial will follow in Akron.

Herbert Raps Bender For Cleveland Snub

CLEVELAND, April 29.—A Republican candidate for governor, still smarting because his hometown political organization wouldn't endorse him, puts the blame on Cuyahoga County GOP Chairman George B. Bender.

The candidate, Former Governor Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland, was turned down by the county GOP executive committee several weeks ago in favor of Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati. Herbert, Taft and the third GOP gubernatorial aspirant, Roscoe R. Walcutt of Columbus, spoke before the Western Reserve Women's Republican group Monday night.

"I ought to be red-faced and ashamed that I don't have my own county's endorsement," said Herbert. "But the red faces will be others' before this thing is over."

"Charles Taft lost his county's endorsement because he succeeded. I couldn't get mine because George Bender has had enough of me."

Bender, a candidate for the 23rd District congressional district nomination, was in the audience but was not permitted rebuttal.

Ohio Killer Denied Review By Court

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The U. S. Supreme Court Monday refused to review the case of James C. Edwards, condemned Canton slayer scheduled to die in Ohio Penitentiary May 9.

Edwards was convicted of first-degree murder in the robbery-slaying of Mrs. Helena Teubner in Canton July 22, 1950. He has been granted four stays of execution.

The latest stay came less than an hour before he was scheduled to die April 18. Gov. Frank J. Lausche intervened, explaining he just had learned the entire Supreme court had not had an opportunity to consider the case.

Coroner Puzzled About Drowning

BARBERTON, April 29.—Coroner C. I. Martin of Summit County is puzzled over how a man five feet eight could drown in six feet of water, especially when he could swim.

The body of Grant W. Hafley, 29, a Wadsworth building contractor, was found in Wolf Creek near Copley Monday afternoon. He had gone there to fish, and his tackle was found on the creek bank. Even if he stepped in water over his head, the coroner said, "he should have been able to keep jumping until he reached shallow water."

Penalty Hiked

CLEVELAND, April 29.—City council has voted to hike rush hour parking penalties to $5 if paid within 48 hours and $10 within 72 hours. Waiver fees for parking violations not during rush hours will stay at $3 and $5.

County Free Of Anthrax

Pickaway County has been completely freed of the dread Anthrax disease.

The state department of agriculture said this county, which once had more than 13 farms infected, has been taken from the quarantine list.

In addition, the dread animal disease now remains in only 36 of the 52 Ohio counties reported three weeks ago. Only 40 of the 240 farms in the state which were infected continue to remain under quarantine.

2,100 Marines To Get Taste Of Atom Bomb

LAS VEGAS, April 29.—Two Marine combat battalions sweated out the weather Tuesday, waiting for their first test of atomic fire.

If clouds lift, the 2,100 men from Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Camp Lejeune, N. C., will take positions 3 1/2 to 4 miles from an A-bomb bursting at perhaps 2,000 feet above Yucca Flat Wednesday morning.

This would put them closer than 1,500 Army troops last week. The soldiers were in roughly the same positions, but the explosion occurred at 3,500 feet.

After the blast, the Marines will make an "attack landing" on "Yucca Island," a mythical enemy-held atoll in the middle of the desert flat.

"We want to show each Marine that an atomic weapon can be a powerful friend as well as a feared enemy," said Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Burger of Camp Pendleton, the maneuver director. "We also want to prove there is still plenty of need for the individual rifleman."

Marine-clad dummies will be placed behind machineguns and artillery pieces in the forward area. Tanks, trucks and other material will be tested close to ground zero.

Sailor's Finger Prevents Bomb From Blasting

OFF KOREA, April 29.—A cool sailor averted possible tragedy on the Carrier Boxer recently by sticking his finger in a live bomb to keep it from exploding.

This is the official story: A Panther Jet returned from a mission over North Korea with a 250-pound bomb the pilot couldn't release.

The bomb jarred loose and went bouncing and sliding up the deck, jammed against a parked plane.

The arming propeller on the nose spun ominously. Two flight crewmen grabbed its tail fin and began dragging the bomb to one side, oblivious of the danger.

Ralph V. O'Dell, an aviation ordnance man and an expert on bombs and fuses, rushed up. He jabbed his finger into the space between the striking pin and the fuse body to prevent accidental discharge.

O'Dell held his finger in place until the bomb had been carried to one side.

Then he slipped a piece of wood into the mechanism and calmly removed the fuse.

'Boilermakers' Snitching Undies

LA FAYETTE, Ind., April 29.—About 500 Purdue University students raided sorority houses for souvenir undergarments Monday night and brought out 30 police.

One student, released after questioning, told police the idea sprang from a magazine article about similar forays in other schools. Some of the men were carrying women's panties and brassieres. Police picked up identification papers from a number of students and turned them over to Dr. Donald Mallett, director of student affairs.

3 Men Lose Licenses For Drunk Driving

Three men—two of them "repeaters"—lost their driving privileges Monday when they appeared in Pickaway County common pleas court for drunken driving.

John Weiner, 40, of Columbus, and Gene L. Hout, 24, of Commercial Point, both lost their driving rights for five years and were sentenced to five days in jail.

A third man, John Henson, 41, of Columbus, lost his driving rights for one year.

Weiner, who lost his license here six months ago, was arrested on North Court street by Officer Charles Smith following an accident.

The man had been in Circleville that day to get back his driving license, which had been suspended for six months when he was arrested here before. He was bound to common pleas court through the court of Mayor Ed Amey.

IN ADDITION to losing his license and being sentenced to five days in jail, Weiner was fined $25 and costs.

Hout, with two previous convictions for drunken driving in Bexley, was fined $10 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and lost his license five years.

However, authorities from Mansfield indicated they will take charge of the man for violation of probation. He was on parole after serving time for attempted robbery, authorities said, and was arrested for drunken driving by Deputy Carl Radcliff and Marshal Ira Roese of South Bloomfield.

Henson was fined $25 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended) and lost his license one year. Henson was arrested by State Highway Patrolman Bob Greene.

All three men appeared in the court of Judge Radcliff on affidavits presented by Prosecutor Guy Cline.

Bandit's Bullet Caught In Teeth

NEW YORK, April 29.—The manager of a Rockefeller Center restaurant, shot in the mouth by a young bandit who escaped with about $225, is minus several false teeth, but otherwise virtually unhurt.

Roosevelt Hospital reported the manager, John Hudson, 46, suffered only a superficial wound in the holdup Monday night, apparently because his false teeth stopped the bullet.

Tire Thief Gives Logical Reason

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Charles Atkins, 22, gave what he thought was a logical reason for stealing three white wall automobile tire rims.

Asked at police headquarters by Capt. Patrick Hays why he had taken the rims, the man said: "Well, I found one, and I needed three more to match them."

He was arrested after a police investigation of the theft and held for petit larceny.

4 Lads Skip BIS

LANCASTER, April 29.—Four youths escaped from Boys Industrial School Monday night, officials said. They were identified as Leroy Maybray, 17, of Rushsylvania; Jake Floyd, 18, of Cincinnati; Harold Dyer, 17, of Carey and Garland Rickendoller, 17, of Cardington.

Conservation Battle Waged In Congress

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A fight over the multi-million-dollar soil conservation program shaped up Tuesday as the House started debate on the $724 million Agriculture Department budget for the next fiscal year.

Members from farm states centered their efforts on heading off an expected drive to cut the conservation payment program for the 1953 crop year.

Spokesmen for some farm groups want the program sharply cut as an economy move and claim the soil conservation methods would be followed without the federal payments.

For the 1953 crop year, the House Appropriations Committee has recommended a $250 million conservation program, the same amount recommended for payments on the 1952 program now underway.

Opponents of reductions have cited in support of their position an appropriations committee warning of a possible food shortage in the United States by 1975. The committee said the population is growing more rapidly than productive land is being provided and called for a strengthening of research and soil conservation activities.

A decision on the scope of the conservation program is due Wednesday when the House starts voting on amendments.

2,350 Aircraft Registered Here

COLUMBUS, April 29.—The Ohio Aviation Board reported Tuesday 2,350 aircraft owners have registered their planes and been given certificates since Feb. 1.

That's when a new state law requiring such registration went into effect. Owners have paid license fees totalling $25,000. Money from the license fees will be used to make uniform air markings and maintain air navigational facilities throughout the state.

Savings Bond Setup Changed By Treasury

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Treasury revamped its entire multi-billion-dollar savings bond program Tuesday, raising interest rates all along the line.

Sale of two of the current series of savings bonds—F and G bonds—will be discontinued effective Thursday. But three new types of bonds will be offered.

The familiar series "E" defense bonds—the type held by most individuals—will be continued.

But interest rates for the full period of the bond will be raised from 2.9 per cent to three per cent.

And buyers will get a much bigger increase in interest rates over the first few years they hold the bond.

The changes will not affect "E" bonds already sold unless the bondholder wants to keep his bond after it matures. In that case, he will get the new interest rate of three per cent.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said the many changes are designed to improve the bond program "in keeping with the times"—apparently a reference to increased commercial interest rates.

559 Seeking 169 Seats In Ohio Assembly

288 Republicans, 271 Democrats Awaiting May 6 Primary Poll

By REED SMITH
Associated Press
Political Writer

COLUMBUS, April 29—A total of 559 candidates are in the scramble for 169 seats in the next Ohio Legislature.

Republicans fielded 288 candidates to 271 for the Democrats. Voters will cut the party fields down to size in the May 6 primary elections.

Nominees in each party will face each other in the payoff election Nov. 4. Winners in that test take their seats next Jan. 1.

Ohio's 100th legislature will have 33 senators and 136 representatives, one more than in the House during the last session.

Republicans controlled the last legislature. They had 26 senators and the Democrats seven. And Republicans had 98 representatives to 36 for the Democrats in the House. The House also had a lone independent, nominally a Democrat. No independents are running this year for the legislature.

DEMOCRATS have no candidates for representative on the ballot for next Tuesday's voting in 26 of Ohio's 88 counties. And they lack candidates in three senatorial districts. Write-in candidates must poll at least 15 per cent of the total vote cast by the party in their area to qualify.

Sen. Tom V. Moorehead of Zanesville is virtually assured of reelection in the 15-16th Senatorial District. He is opposed for the Republican nomination and Democrats have no candidate there.

Democrats also lack candidates in the 9th-14th and in the 32nd Senatorial Districts.

But Republican Sens. C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville and Ross Peppie of Lima both have opposition in those two respective districts.

Three women seek the Republican nomination in the 2nd-4th District of Butler, Warren, Clermont and Brown counties. They are Freida B. McCandless of Hamilton, wife of Sen. George C. McCandless who did not run; Miss Kathleen E. Wetzel of near Lebanon, and Mrs. Kathryn E. Wetzel of Hamilton who spells her first name differently.

TWENTY-THREE senators seek renomination. One is veteran Sen. Robert A. Pollock, Canton Republican, in the 21st District. He has served in 11 legislatures.

A total of 102 representatives are running for reelection. Each county in the state will have at least one representative.

Among the counties lacking a Democratic candidate is Fayette.

Other such counties are Ashland, Adams, Athens, Champaign, Coshocton, Defiance, Fulton, Gallia, Geauga, Greene, Jackson, Logan, Medina, Meigs, Miami, Morgan, Morrow, Muskingum, Preble, Sandusky, Union, Washington, Wayne, Williams and Wyandot.

The Panama canal was opened to traffic April 15, 1914.

Women Stowaway On Trip To Guam

GUAM, April 29—Two young women who reached this Pacific island as stowaways aboard an Air Force B-29 have surrendered to immigration officials.

The pair said two airmen helped them hide in the bomber when it left McClelland Field, Sacramento, Calif. They shared lunches with the airmen on the 6,000-mile trip. Neither woman wants to return home.

"It's wonderful," exclaimed Jerie McDaniel, 26, of Walnut Creek, Calif. Maxine Allen, 23, Tacoma, Wash., chimed in: "We would like to stay and work if they would let us."

Orient Holstein Completes Test

With 639 pounds of butterfat and 19,244 pounds of milk, Orient Pontiac Johanna Bess, registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Orient State School, has completed a 354-day production test in official Herd Improvement registry.

She was milked three times daily and was six years, eight months of age when she began her testing period. Her record averages approximately 25 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Testing was supervised by Ohio State university in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Russell Opposes Compulsory FEPC

TAMPA, April 29—Sen. Richard B. Russell said here Sunday he would have no part of a compulsory fair employment practices plank in the Democratic Party platform.

He said that if he became the party's presidential candidate, he would disavow any such plank. Russell currently is campaigning for Florida's delegate slate to the national convention.

The Georgian is opposed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) who has said that if the party adopted an FEPC plank he would feel bound morally to support it.

Stassen Urges 'Improvements'

COLUMBUS, April 29—Harold E. Stassen Monday urged a program of "major public improvements" after defense production levels off to keep our economy "strong and virile."

Stassen, former Minnesota governor and candidate for the Republican nomination for President, told Columbus Kiwanis Club members such a program should be sponsored by the federal government.

WASHINGTON, April 29—The Reconstruction Finance Corp. has restored the authority of its 31 regional offices across the country to make business loans up to $50,000.

When private banks participate, RFC field offices will be empowered to make government loans up to $100,000 without approval in Washington.

Ohioan Injured In Indiana Crash

LEBANON, Ind., April 29—A two truck tractors collided Monday on U. S. 52, six miles south of here. One man burned to death, a man and a woman were burned critically.

William Pollard, 32, of Washington C. H., Ohio, was driving one of the tractors. He was seriously hurt.

The other was driven by William Berry of Indianapolis. The dead man and the critically burned woman were riding with him. They were not immediately identified. Pollard was taken to Lebanon's Witham Hospital.

The only flying reptiles were the pterodactyls, now extinct.

Income Tax Levied

CANTON, April 29—By an

Chrysler V-8 Saratoga Sedan, gasoline economy winner in Class "F". Entered and driven in the 1952 Mobilgas Economy Run by Chrysler Dealer Mel Alshury, Hollywood. It was one of three Chrysler FirePower V-8's to win in their respective classes.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines!

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145 1/2-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel these substantial cars at this speed under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here is the finest and most efficient engine ever put into an American passenger car!

WE INVITE YOU TO DRIVE THIS ENGINE, YOURSELF...

The same engine which has just scored these remarkable accomplishments is no farther from you than your own Chrysler Dealer. He will welcome the chance to let you take the wheel and feel for yourself what Chrysler has done... not only in FirePower engine performance, but in full-time power steering, power brakes, new Oriflow shock absorbers, and passenger comfort... to deserve the title: "Finest Car America Has Yet Produced!"

WORLD FLYWHEEL

IT IS NOT SURPRISING if the American people, to say nothing of their government, have failed to fully grasp the magnitude of American power in today's world—or the limitations of that power. In terms of a possible world war, the nation's security leaves a great deal to be desired.

American political and diplomatic power depends on a complex of know-how, military strength, geography, and other factors, in all of which there is room for improvement. But the nation's economic and productive power is even greater than most persons realize. With one-sixteenth of the world's population, America disposes of one-half of the world's income.

The enormous destruction and dislocations of World War II, which crippled most important nations, touched this country relatively lightly and increased its relative power to an incredible extent. At the same time it served to leave this country more insecure by destroying the balance of power in both Europe and Asia and leaving Russia, by the end of 1945, too strong to be challenged by any other nation in either continent.

The vast economic power this nation now possesses can do untold harm to other nations. Even a mild recession here might bring a serious depression to some of the smaller countries of the world. The United States is now the world's largest exporter and importer, though its prosperity is not dependent on foreign trade. A mild recession which cut this country's imports by 10 per cent might cause a 50 per cent cut in the exports of some smaller country which lives by exporting.

The United States is the flywheel of world stability. Moscow is waiting patiently for the wheel to slow down.

PEOPLE LEVY TAXES

EVENTUALLY THE American people, now so loudly complaining of the tax burden, will achieve a better understanding of the tax situation and responsibility for it. In the final analysis the people themselves are responsible.

Officials who have the power to levy taxes, starting with Congress and down to the lowest taxing boards, are elected by a majority of the voters. Their power to tax comes directly from the people.

If the citizens ever determine they want lower taxes badly enough to do something to bring the desired result, they will be able to achieve it by the same means which is responsible for current levies—their votes.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

An excellent way to discourage motion picture producers from making pro-American pictures which will be good entertainment and stir the emotions of the audience on a great theme, is to kill one such picture of high quality. Then the accountants and managers of the producing companies will say that there is no money in pro-American pictures. They have no box-office appeal. Nobody will make another.

I have observed the slaughter-house job that is being done to Leo McCarey's magnificent picture, "My Son John." Were it a leg-show affair, it would have been advertised with all the rawness and raciness of a bacchanalian festival, featuring the God-given or man-made pulchritude of young womanhood.

As the star of this picture, however, is Helen Hayes, America's greatest actress, who plays the mother of three full-grown men, two of whom are in the army, and one in the State Department betraying his country, no such "cheese-cake" advertising is possible, and therefore what has been done appears to me to look like nothing to attract attention to its grandeur. Someone missed the point of it altogether and the picture is missing box-office attractiveness.

Furthermore, the left-wing and so-called liberal reviewers condemned the picture, in spite of direction by Leo McCarey, who made "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Going My Way," the starring of Helen Hayes, Van Heflin and Robert Walker, among the best actors in this country. It is a timely picture, strong in human appeal, powerful in evoking emotions—but it is pro-American.

It seems to be a crime to be pro-American. It used to be, during World War II particularly, that pro-American subjects in the movies, on radio, and even in magazines were taboo. What was desired most was an eternal yapping about One World and about one wonderful ally, Soviet Russia. That was called cooperating with our ally, who is now our enemy.

No complaints were made that the plethora of pro-Russian pictures, straight propaganda, arranged by motion picture companies and the OWI, were "message pictures." If the motion picture art is ever to grow up, so that it can compete with television, it will have to produce pictures that are, at least, slightly above the Westerns and the boy-meets-girl theme which in the old days filled the tills. Too much is happening in the world today for that sort of drivel to appeal to adults.

If motion pictures then are to be made only for teen-agers, parents are entitled to know that the product is a decent, patriotic one and not the result of slick writers sneaking poisonous phrases into silly scenes. It is interesting that when a picture of the stature of "My Son John" appears, the advertising and publicity personnel worry lest it be labelled anti-Communist, or anti-spy. They prefer to have such a writer as myself refer to it as fine entertainment, which it is, omitting, however, references to its theme.

Pound Foolish by ROBERT MOLLOY

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT "OF COURSE," Henri said, "Leonie doesn't want to see Cousin Julie because she probably suspects that something has been said about all those letters." "H'm," Heloise said. "I suppose that young fellow will be here immediately." "Probably. Very likely the two of them, if she's said anything to that Newman boy about her return. If he does come, Brother, I do hope you won't persuade him to sing. They just make fun of him, and besides, Leonie and that Calvert boy don't enjoy singing."

"I'll take good care," Henri said stiffly, "not to impose my singing on anyone." "Don't be too sensitive, Brother. There are lots of people who appreciate your singing, but not young people. It might not be such a bad way to get rid of that Lincoln Calvert at that."

"I don't propose to use my voice deliberately as a nuisance," Henri replied. "At that moment Leonie returned. 'My, you look pretty,' Henri said. 'Going somewhere?'" "No," Leonie said shortly. "Here's the money I had left."

She handed him the bills and Henri, without looking at them, put them casually into his pocket. "I wish I could tell you to keep this," he said. "Well, you can't," Leonie said, perhaps a trifle ungraciously. "Perhaps there'll be better times. Perhaps you'll marry a rich man," Henri said.

Leonie did not reply, but sailed out of the room. "I wonder what's the matter with that gyrl?" Henri thought. "She looks worried. Maybe she isn't feeling very well. I think our food doesn't agree with her. We ought to have more chicken and things like that."

There was no visitor that evening, and Leonie went to bed early. It seemed to Henri that her behavior next day was capricious, too, and when no young man appeared he was astonished. "Maybe," he thought with renewed nope, "they've had a disagreement. Then we won't need to worry about sending her to Virginia after all."

He asked Heloise if she had noticed anything. "Not any more than you have," Heloise said. "Leonie doesn't take me into her confidence. And I don't see how they could quarrel by mail."

"Well, something has happened." "You ask her, then. I don't want my head bitten off."

"I can wait," Henri said sagely. "These things always come out in time." On Friday evening, just as he was turning to his books and papers, the door bell rattled. He heard Leonie open the door, and then the high laugh of Joseph Newman. "He puts too much forward placement into his voice," Henri reflected. "I must tell him about it." He was gratified that the caller was Joseph. A good young man for Leonie. Not too much a polished man of the world, but he might acquire some social grace later. And, with a singer's career ahead of him, he would be in no hurry to get married.

Leonie, too, seemed pleased to have Joseph. She encouraged him to sing, and Henri was asked too. And altogether it was a very satisfactory evening.

Henri was so delighted that he talked quite jubilantly to Heloise later that evening about Leonie's change of interests. "She's showing more interest in singing than in farming," he said.

Heloise looked at him as if wondering whether to nip this new illusion in the bud.

"Brother," she said, "I'm afraid Leonie's very fickle. One week it's one young man and farming—the next week it's another young man and singing."

"But this young man," Henri said, "is the right sort for Leonie."

Heloise, who had spent a busy day with her mending and economics, did not seem anxious to continue the discussion. "I'm going up to finish that book Annette brought me," she said.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 29 — Not since the tragic days of Andrew Jackson in the post-Civil War years has the actual impeachment of a president been discussed so seriously as it was when the Republicans' Policy Committee of the House of Representatives recently considered similar action against Harry S. Truman in a closed session.

The secret record of this almost unprecedented convocation shows that a majority regarded his seizure of the steel plants as justification for an indictment on the ground of misfeasance in office.

SIGNIFICANT — Instead of tossing this highly provocative and personal issue into a campaign that has already promised to divide both major parties, the G.O.P. agreed to let a man who represents an entirely safe district throw this parliamentary stone through the White House windows. He is Robert Hale of the First Maine District, and a descendant of a historic family. His distinguished ancestry, as well as the fact that he is no

"firebrand," underline the significance of the anti-Truman gesture, however. Mr. Hale is a graduate of the University of Maine, Oxford and Harvard Law School, with a Phi Beta Kappa key dangling from his watch chain.

In the past, whenever windy and excitable gentlemen on the minority side of the aisle proposed impeachment, G.O.P. leaders looked the other way or laughed off the idea. While unwilling to assume party responsibility at this critical moment, the Republican managers were only too happy to inflate this trial balloon.

RESENTMENT — Party promotion of impeachment action, both Taft and Eisenhower spokesmen argued, might unite the Democrats because of the campaign need for rallying around their outboard president. It might also alienate great numbers of liberals and independents who, though antagonistic to the Truman personality and philosophy, would feel resentment of such extreme condemnation.

It was also argued that it would be a highly unfortunate time to try to discredit the American chief executive, in view of the foreign situation. The Kremlin would be sure to broadcast that the "general" in the "cold war" the advocate of anti-Russian rearmament, had been stripped of his uniform and insignia by his own Congress.

FACTORS — When a pro-impeachment member noted that no such fears were ever expressed over the 20-odd upsets of French cabinets, since World War II, he was reminded that the expected in that mercurial country would be the sensational and unprecedented in the United States.

There were also two other negative factors. The first was that it would be foolish to pillory a president so close to retirement from public life. The second was the previous day's vote in the Senate to bar Truman from using Commerce Department appropriations for nominal operation of the steel mills.

OPPOSED — Although this rebuke carried by a 44-31 vote, there were at least ten Democratic and Republican absentees who would have supported Truman in this test. They would undoubtedly stand by the White House occupant, if the House should send an impeachment resolution to the Senate for trial, in accord with procedure.

Since a two-thirds vote is required in that body for conviction after a hearing, the G.O.P. ers saw no sense in bumping their heads against a stone wall.

By Ray Tucker

The Eisenhower faction were especially opposed to formal approval. They did not want their man, if he should win the nomination, to be placed in the position of supporting a court-martial of his former commander-in-chief. They figure he has enough handicaps already.

HORRIFIED — Representative Gordon Canfield of Paterson, N.J., learned that he must brush up on foreign customs when dignitaries from abroad are invited to appear before Congress. He committed a serious faux pas when Queen Juliana of the Netherlands addressed the joint session, although he meant to be kind.

The Jersey member showed up in the chamber, wearing a pair of wooden shoes which her highness had presented to an American Legion post in his district during her 1944 appearance there. When he placed them on the minority committee's table in full sight of the Queen after her entrance, a Swedish newspaperman was horrified.

Placing wooden shoes on a table is a bad omen in Holland, like a black cat crossing the street. Canfield was notified of his breach of etiquette by a Pas-saic newspaperman, friend of the Swedish correspondent, and he dropped the clogs on the floor quietly.

First Regional Meeting Held By Garden Clubs

Pickaway Club Entertains

Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, vice-president of the Columbus region of the Garden Clubs of Ohio, opened the morning session of their first regional meeting, held Monday in the Lutheran parish house. Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, president of the Pickaway Garden Club, led the garden collect.

Garden club members were present from the Franklin Garden Club, Columbus Garden Forum, Mary Ritter Club, Cardiff Road Garden Club and the Pickaway Garden Club.

Mrs. Carpenter announced the rose and Spring Flower Show luncheon at the Pickaway Country Club June 6 and also announced an invitation from members of the Deercreek Garden Club of Williamsport for their flower show in the Methodist parish house, 8 p. m. Thursday. Mrs. Barnhart announced the Flower Show School to be held in Columbus May 12 through 14 at Seneca Hotel.

Mrs. Barnhart introduced Mrs. Emerson Gillispie of Canton, state recording secretary, who gave a brief talk. She was followed by Mrs. Clarence M. Huber of Rocky River, state president of the Garden Clubs of Ohio.

Mrs. Huber gave a talk on the history of the National Association and the aims and the projects to be finished.

Mrs. J. E. Everett of Alliance, regional vice-president for Canton and chairman of the Flower Show school, gave a brief outline of the school, followed with a question and answer period.

Luncheon was served at the Pickaway Arms.

Mrs. Winifred Walker of Toledo, photographer, lecturer and world traveler was the speaker during the afternoon. She chose for her subject, "Bermuda Beckons." Having made two trips there, she illustrated her lecture with colored slides.

She stated that the Bermudas were twenty square miles in size and were occupied by British people. Slaves were brought from Africa at one time and were later freed. All the people are educated and anyone who owns property may vote.

She showed colored slides of the flowers blooming on the island, or-landers, night blooming cactus, nassion flowers, hibiscus, water lilies, amaryllis, century plants and many Bermuda or Madonna lilies. Perfume from the lilies is made and sold to the visitors.

Descriptions were given of the fine old churches, taverns and homes on the island. The oldest church was built in 1619 and its communion silver is valued at a quarter of a million dollars. Hotel St. George was built in 1612.

She stated that cars were not allowed on the island and travel is done by horse drawn surries, riding horses and bicycles.

Mrs. Walker closed her lecture with pictures of the family boarding the plane for their return trip home.

The general committee directing the meeting consisted of Miss Mary Heffner, Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Luther Bowers, Mrs. George Fishpaw, Mrs. James Scott, Miss Florence Dunton and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter. Mrs. Edwin Jury was in

Class Meets

In Fosnough Home

Members of the Booster Class of Hedges Chapel Methodist church met recently in the home of Boyd and Donna Fosnough with Frank and Jane Dill as assisting hosts.

Don Collins, president, was in charge of the business meeting and he appointed a nominating committee to select a slate of officers charge of invitations and Mrs. Oscar Root in charge of corsages.

Green ribbons were given to each floral arrangement shown during the flower show, at the meeting. Following the meeting, the out-of-town guests and the members of the Pickaway Garden club were entertained at a tea in Mrs. Barnhart's home.

CELEBRATING their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert Angles of Mt. Sterling Route 1. The couple was married April 30, 1902, near Jackson, and moved to Pickaway County in 1913. The Angles have four sons, Clyde, Hayden, Carl and Ben; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Porter, Mrs. Thurman See and Mrs. Harry Puffinbarger; 10 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. An open house will be observed between 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. Sunday in their home.

Couples Club Has Meeting

Presbyterian Couples Club of Geneva Fellowship met Sunday evening in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian church, with Ed Grigg presiding during the business meeting. Plans were made to present two scientific films at the church May 24, entitled, "God of Creation" and "Dust or Destiny."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Spencer. The next meeting will be a family picnic to be held during June.

Mrs. Wojciak Fetes Daughter

Mrs. Anthony L. Wojciak entertained Saturday in honor of her daughter, Antoinette, who was celebrating her sixth birthday anniversary.

The party was given in the home of Mrs. Wojciak's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goodman, 624 South Court street. The house was decorated in pink and blue and balloons were strung from the chandeliers.

Those attending the party were: Cora Sue Alexander, Bobby Barnhart, Timmy Blubaugh, Stephen Bowers, Carolyn Chaffin, Freddie Crist, Sally Griner, Dickie Lamb, Sally Linn, Dickie Patrick, Nanette Sanscrainte, Sandra Shellhammer, Gary Lee Stewart, David Thomas and Mary Lou Skaggs.

LOST 34 LBS. Feels Younger

"Not only have I lost weight since taking Renel, but I feel so much better," writes Mrs. Dora Johnson, 536 Armstrong St., Columbus, Ohio. "I have lost 34 lbs., have renewed pep and feel years younger. I was troubled with arthritis, but now this is very much improved. Also I do not suffer from headaches as I did before."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Renel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Renel.

World Today

WASHINGTON, April 29 — (AP)—The White House apparently thought a good public relations job was needed when the President seized the steel mills.

It started with a bang but must have stopped to pick apples.

The President laid his case before the people the night of the seizure with a ringing attack on the mill owners. That was the White House's highwater mark in public relations in this case. The tide has been running out ever since.

The next night the steel industry produced Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co., on TV. He blistered the President.

Neither man was exactly impartial. The President told his listeners the industry could raise wages without raising prices because, he said, it was making a profit of $19 a ton.

He neglected to say this was profit before taxes, an omission he may have regretted because Randall denounced him for it the following night in telling industry's side. But Randall didn't stick to arithmetic.

HE TRIED a few emotional tricks to win friends, such as reminding his TV audience he was a veteran of World War I, a fact which had nothing to do with the dispute and could hardly illuminate it.

Randall wasn't relying on just one speech in his bid for public opinion. He has a high-gear publicity firm which has been leading down the mailmen with Randall speeches and other things ever since.

Meanwhile, the Republicans in Congress, for various reasons which may not be altogether unconnected with politics, hopped on the President for the seizure.

And Truman's Democrats in Congress haven't done much to pull the Republicans off. Mostly they've kept their mouths shut.

So, after its first shot, things weren't going so well with the White House, in a public relations way. It flubbed its next chance. That was when the industry went to court to get the mills back. The government lawyers filed an answer going all the way back to Revolutionary War days to prove the President had the right to take the mills. This answer, called a brief, takes up 69 legal-size pages.

The timing on this, from the viewpoint of public relations, was horrible. It was made public at 5 p. m., too late for afternoon newspapers and too complex to be of much good to morning papers.

NEXT, THE President, answering a question at a news conference, gave his opinion on a President's power to seize newspapers. He could have said "no comment" or taken his time. Instead, he bounced out a reply. The reaction was terrible.

The criticism and needling must have irritated the President more than he's willing to admit for once more at a news conference he tried to explain presidential powers. The result was just as bad.

This time, to illustrate his powers, he said he sent an ultimatum to Stalin. A few hours later his White House aides had to explain he didn't mean an ultimatum but a diplomatic note to the Moscow government.

Then the President's chief representative in court, Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldrige, went so far in insisting the President has unlimited powers that even some Truman supporters in Congress were outraged.

The White House's public relations in the steel dispute haven't been planned. They've been ad libbed.

British Wives Want Part Of Hubby's Pay

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—Many American married men are taking a secret interest in the fate of a proposed law being debated in Great Britain's parliament.

The law would give British wives a legal right to a fair share of their husband's income.

You understand, old bean, things are done differently in America and Britain. Here the average wife can get everything in her husband's pocket by force of arms, language or tears.

But over there the Englishman holds to the old-fashioned idea he is still the king of the cottage. What's his his. And what is his wife's? Well, whatever he decides to give her.

Naturally, the Englishman wants to do the sporting thing by her—fair play and all that, y'know. But what with pub prices being what they are, and say a man's had a bad fortnight at the dart board—well, old girl, chin up, you'll just have to skimp along with the shillings that are left.

The master of the house gets the lord's share of the pay cheque and the wife has to eke out her tea and crumpets as best she can on her marital dole.

Often British husbands won't even tell the old girl how much they really earn, figuring it really isn't any of her business.

Dr. Edith Summerskill says this is "stupid, because there is no more certain way of alienating a woman's affections." She is author of the proposed new law that would enable British wives to go into court and force their husbands to divvy up their take-home pay.

British men might be amazed to learn that probably most American males are hoping parliament passes the law. They would probably regard it as masculine traitorism on the part of their Yankee cousins.

But actually it is a step in self-protection, a bold new bid for domestic liberty on the part of the American male. Here is a summary of the views I heard expressed by a group of husbands here who discussed the proposal.

"The way I see it," said one mustached mouse, "is this: If parliament gives British women a break, maybe we can get Congress to pass a law forcing our wives here to let us have a fair share of our paychecks."

"What I don't see is how Englishmen manage to keep the size of their salaries secret," marvelled another husband. "My wife makes me bring home my paycheck in my mouth. Sometimes I don't even know myself what I'm making."

"I know what you mean," remarked a third. "I have to deliver my check unopened, too. The last time I hit my boss up for a raise, he said, 'why, I've given you two in the last six months.' First I'd heard about it. When I asked my wife, she told me, 'I didn't want it to go to your head, Junior.'"

"You guys ought to learn to put your foot down," bragged a fourth husband. "I tell my wife

'Lights On' Cancer Drive Nets About $250

Cincinnati Kiwanis Club collected about $250 Monday night in its "lights on" Cancer Fund drive.

Following their regular meeting, Kiwanians scoured the city for donations, calling wherever a porch light was burning.

At the same time, although collecting about $250, Kiwanians reported very few porch lights were found to be burning.

To be added to the fund are contributions from local industry, business and civic groups. Last year's drive netted about $450.

Persons who were not contacted in Monday's campaign but who wish to give to the fund may mail donations to "Cancer, 122 South Court street" or contact Guy Campbell.

Co-Op Telephone Firm Is Backed

COLUMBUS, April 29—(P)—Rep. Wayne L. Hays, (D-Ohio) Monday urged the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to authorize the state's first rural cooperative telephone company.

The Flushing, Ohio, congressman testified at a commission hearing on the request of the Belmont-Monroe Telephone Co. of St. Clairsville. The company, subsidized by the Rural Electrification Commission, wants to operate in sections of Belmont and Monroe counties.

Jackson Seniors Leave On Tour

A group of 10 Jackson Township school seniors left Tuesday for a four-day tour of Niagara Falls.

every morning she either has to give me a dollar or I won't go to work. She forks out, too."

The other shook their heads at this bravery and agreed nothing so foolhardy would work with their wives.

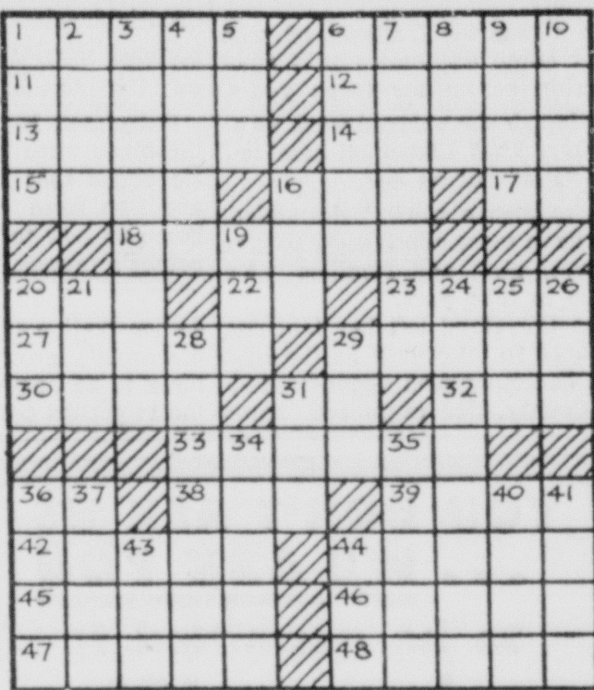

Finally a white-haired old veteran of forty years of marital warfare said:

"Boys, let's quit kidding ourselves. No matter what parliament does for wives in Britain, Congress wouldn't dare do a thing for husbands here. They'd be too afraid of their own wives. "No, in America men have lost their battle for the freedom of the paycheck."

"Today our wives and the government are fighting a tug-of-war for it. All a husband can do is sit on the sidelines and holler: 'On wife! On government!' Whoever wins—well, it won't be us."

Labor Cleavage Said Intentional

CINCINNATI, April 29—(P)—The head of the Armco Steel Co. says national labor leaders are "deliberately developing" a cleavage between management and workers.

That was the statement made here Monday night by W. W. Seabald, president of Armco in a speech at the annual spring conference of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers. He declared:

"We all know unions are an established part of our industrial system and it is so very important that they have forward looking leadership. We need to point out that it is to everyone's interest to have good men—sound men—take an active part in union activities."

Benny Drops Phil Harris' Orchestra

HOLLYWOOD, April 29—(P)—Comedian Phil Benny has dropped bandleader Phil Harris in favor of Bob Crosby.

Benny said he will continue his radio and television shows on CBS next season for the American Tobacco Co., but has hired Crosby "because Harris is not available for the Benny television show." All other regulars remain in the cast.

Layoff Planned

TIFFIN, April 29—(P)—General Electric Co. will lay off 100 of its Tiffin plant employees Friday. The company said reduction in production and sharp cuts in orders from the Erie Gas refrigerator division necessitated the curtailment.

Sokolsky's These Days

The question does arise, Is entertainment all that we require of a picture or is it, like the theatre, to add something to one's knowledge and wisdom? When one sees the outstanding success, on the live stage, of "Don Juan In Hell," with Charles Laughton, Charles Boyer, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, and Agnes Moorehead, or the amazing success of "Antony and Cleopatra" and "Caesar and Cleopatra," in which Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh starred, it is possible to say that there is an adult theatre-going audience in this country. After all, William Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw still remain the best box-office in the theatre.

Why not in the movies? Why is it that management and critics insist that a herring be thrown to teen-agers and when an outstanding picture is produced that feeds the intellect as well as the eye, a combination develops to kill it so that others of its kind will not be made?

Perhaps the fact that "Quo Vadis" got no Oscars points the way. This remarkable picture preaches a sermon on one of the most noble tales in human experience—the conquest of the rotting Roman Empire by the word of God.

"My Son John" is a motion picture to which every American parent can take his children, that they may learn to love and serve America.

Local Red Cross Seeks Blood Donors, Disaster Donations

Quota Is 160 Pints For May Visit Of Unit

$800 Sought Here To Aid Flood Victims

Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter is calling for at least 160 blood donors to make appointments to give blood May 8, when the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit will make its fourth visit to Pickaway County in the Lutheran Parish House from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Red Cross officials say it is necessary to have this number of donors in order to be ensured of meeting the county's monthly quota. The unit will not come to Pickaway County every month this year, so therefore it is urgent that the quota be met as fully as possible on each visit.

Word from the armed forces indicates that the average Korean casualty requires at least nine pints of blood, five of plasma and four of whole blood.

One American soldier fighting in Korea required a total of 75 pints of blood to save his life. This was more blood than was collected during the last visit of the unit to the county.

MEMBERS OF the county blood program committee again stress the fact that Red Cross turned over to the military blood and plasma at designated points in this country during World War II and are following the same plan during the Korean war.

Any sale of blood to a GI could not be a reflection on the Red Cross program, for once the blood is transferred to the military it is under their jurisdiction completely.

This explanation is emphasized by the local blood program committee to clarify a rumor that has been current in the Williamsport area.

Any irregular procedure involving the use of blood for the soldier should be reported to the FBI.

Meanwhile, members of the Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter were asked this week to join in an appeal for $10 million to aid victims of the rampaging Missouri and Mississippi Rivers. In a letter to the local chapter, Red Cross President E. Roland Harriman stated this amount was necessary for Red Cross to carry on as the nation's official disaster agency.

More than 26,000 families are homeless and many more thousands are facing the same threat as the disaster sweeps downstream.

THE NEEDS of these fellow Americans will only be met through the disaster program of the Red Cross and the local agencies. National grants of money do not go toward the needy families. National grants of money go only toward the needs of city and county governments, or needs that pertain to the public as a whole—city water plants, city electric needs and other basic community facilities.

This need of $10 million is not available in the national treasury, from which $22 million has been spent or committed for disaster relief in the current fiscal year, not including the present floods.

Members of the Pickaway County Red Cross fund campaign committee met in emergency session when this request came to the local county and decided to place the matter before the public and to encourage each person to contribute to this need by sending a contribution to the local chapter office.

It was the feeling of the committee that, although the county had recently been approached for the annual Red Cross drive, that the call of dire distress from the flooded areas was so great that every effort should be made to meet the call. A quota of $800 has been set for this county.

Two Children Burned Fatally

TOLEDO, April 29.—Two little girls died of burns Monday night a few hours after fire of unknown cause swept a bedroom of their apartment home in a veterans' housing project.

The children were Frances, 3, and Virginia, 18 months, daughters of Mrs. John Meeks, who was visiting in an adjoining apartment at the time. Fred Jeremy 72, a great uncle of the children, discovered the blaze and carried one child outside while neighbors brought the other out.

One out of five persons in the United States changes residence each year.

Former Agent Gives Data On Dairy Work

Ohio's average dairy cow produces about 475 pounds more milk every year than the average cow produced in 1945, according to Robert Schwartz, extension economist in Ohio State university and former associate extension agent in Pickaway County.

"If farmers were not producing more from each cow than they did in 1945, consumers would be paying higher prices for milk today," Schwartz said. "Cow numbers have decreased 16 percent."

Schwartz said that despite decreased cow numbers, dairy farmers continue to supply enough milk for consumers by using every opportunity they can. Of these opportunities, the economist listed four which stand out:

"As milk prices increase, farmers spend more on feed. They feed their cows better rations, thus increasing production per cow;

"They cull poor producing animals from dairy herds as beef prices climb. Farmers also use herd improvement and artificial insemination to increase production; and

"They improve pasture, hay and silage crops to provide more feed so cows can produce more."

Legion Commander Raps U.S. Policy

COLUMBUS, April 29.—(P)—The national commander of the American Legion said Monday night U. S. foreign policy is "founded in fear, guided by expediency and relying for continued support largely upon the doctrine of assumed infallibility with which its leaders have cloaked themselves."

Donald R. Wilson told the Independent Oil Producers Association the government is operating on the "false and extravagant premise that America is blessed with unlimited industrial and financial resources." He said it has reached the "equally false and extravagant conclusion that dollars are the best missionaries."

Captain Admits Accepting Gifts

DAYTON, April 29.—(P)—A former Wright - Patterson Air Force Base buyer Monday admitted accepting gifts from manufacturers' representatives, but said "I never made a favor to any contractor."

Capt. Jerry Mitchell Jr., 31, of Charleston, W. Va., told a court martial the manufacturers' representatives were "the only friends I had and some of the finest people I have ever known." Mitchell is charged with negligence and recklessness in the performance of duty, in addition to accepting gifts.

Former County Teacher Now In 4-H Work

A former Pickaway County school teacher is now assistant state 4-H Club leader in Ohio State university.

She is Beatrice J. Cleveland, who taught home economics in Walnut Township school for three years. Although she enjoyed work as a teacher, Miss Cleveland said today "I'm sold on 4-H."

"In extension work," she added, "you have more opportunity to give all boys, girls and families the chance to take part."

Mom And Pop Due For Lecturing

CINCINNATI, April 29.—(P)—Mom and Pop—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grable—are in the doghouse as far as their son and daughter are concerned. Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Grable borrowed the children's bicycles to ride to a neighborhood movie. When they came out, the bicycles had been stolen.

Patrolman Harry Smith Jr. said the bikes were valued at $20 each. He added that he suspected Mom and Pop were being lectured at home on how to take care of other people's property.

demonstration activities in 14 active community groups, and, although there is no home agent there now, the 14 groups continue to be active.

B.F. Goodrich
POWER-CURVE tractor tires

Count your savings in dollars and hours when your tractor rolls on BFG Power-Curve tires. Husky Power-Curve cleats grip the soil to give maximum traction in forward or reverse. The arrowhead nose of each cleat digs in like a spade, assures you of full shoulder-to-shoulder traction.

You work faster because Power-Curve tires give greater drawbar pull. You save on fuel bills because Power-Curve tires reduce slippage. And the extra long life you get from higher Power-Curve cleats means extra money in your pocket!

We'll be glad to arrange convenient terms to suit your need.

We Need
EARL E. EASTWOOD
in Congress

This outstanding Republican Candidate in the 6th District is—

- Unalterably opposed to the Fair Deal Administration and all it stands for.
- A crusader for constitutional government and individual liberty.
- A firm believer that State Rights must be returned to the individual states.
- A determined foe of fraud, corruption and the wasteful expenditure of billions of the tax payers' money by our present administration.
- A staunch supporter of the farmer in his fight to regain the freedom he lost under the present farm subsidy program.
- A fervent advocate that the priceless heritage of liberty and opportunity must be safeguarded for our children and their children to come.

EARL EASTWOOD—farm raised... currently operating his own farm... made an enviable record in the field of insurance... an authority on constitutional government... a forceful and inspiring speaker... a man of mature judgment and unquestioned integrity.

Select him in the Primary...
Send him to Congress in November
